MULTI 590 OFFSET

Multi offset hook for best action performance

Multi 590 Offset hook removes the left-right difference in the line connection part to reduce power loss in hooking. Expanded inner side of the line eye allows direct sinker mount while maintaining integration Variance in the line eye position supports best action performances in diverse actions and styles without being restricted by worm forms. Length variance from the line eye to neck largely reduces difference. After mounted, it is completely integrated into the style and its form is cleverly favorable for securing space after hit. The hookpoint was further polished and shaped for deeper sticking.

COOING EGI

MOING's excellent performance not only targets cuttlefish, but also has a very stable fishing effect for offshore octopus and squid.

COLOR CHART _

The excellent balance design not only makes it easy for the bait to achieve horizontal posture in the water, but also produces subtle fluctuations under the action of water flow, which makes it perfect to mimic the parallel swimming posture of bait fish. This unique ability to perform is particularly effective in cuttlefish with low activity.

TUNGSTEN STICK SINKER

Best for down shot rig use!

Improved casting distance and better sensitivity compared with previous brasses

Going straight into the water in deep dams or reservoirs is the best point of using a down shot rig. The casting distance and sensitivity of previous brass products were improved by employing a swivel to reduce line troubles.

TUNGSTEN TEXAS SINKER

Sinker with lower resistance while falling,

quick falling, and efforts to overcome obstacles!

Heavy metal tungsten and sleek design to face less resistance while falling and achieve high falling speed with efforts to overcome obstacles. High-hardness specific gravity to deliver excellent sensitivity. Used tube to prevent line damage due to the hole.

TUNGSTEN TEAR DROP SINKER

Higher specific gravity in the lower part to keep worm postures more stably under water.

For stable positions in the down shot sinker, heavier specific gravity in the lower part to keep work postures more stable under water. The lower-part specific gravity helps feel more sensitively. A swivel is used to reduce line damage.
